International

- US President Barack Obama has said that he wanted to send Navy SEALs into Pakistan 'fairly early' to get Osama but waited until all members of his team had a chance to have their say. President Obama disclosed this in a lengthy interview he gave to CNN on the fifth anniversary of the May 2, 2011 raid at bin Laden's compound in Abbottabad.
- The US State Department has said that Pakistan will have to pay from its own funds if it wants to buy F-16 fighter jets. Pakistan had earlier reached an understanding with the US for buying eight F-16 planes. Under the deal, Pakistan was required to pay about $270m from its national funds. The US was supposed to provide the rest from its Foreign Military Financing (FMF) fund.
- The Asian Development Bank (ADB) and Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB) signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) in Frankfurt to co-finance mutually-agreed projects. Both the lenders have selected Pakistan as the destination for a $300 million collective project to construct a road in Punjab from Shorkot to Khanewal.
- Iran has passed a law allowing the government to grant citizenship to the families of foreigners killed while fighting for the Islamic republic, the official IRNA news agency reported. The law could apply to "volunteers" from Afghanistan and Pakistan who are fighting in Syria and Iraq against militants, including the militant Islamic State (IS) group and Al Qaeda's Syrian franchise, Al-Nusra Front.
- Two lawsuits filed in California claim that Muslim women were discriminated against in separate incidents because of their religion and for wearing the hijab.
- The head of US Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), John Brennan, has said that there is "no evidence" indicating that Saudi Arabia gave backing to Al Qaeda for the Sept 11, 2001, terrorist attacks on New York and Washington. In an interview on NBC news he said speculation that the Saudis were involved, as some in Congress have charged, was not "corroborated, not vetted, and not deemed to be accurate".
